PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Introduction

The Washington State Legislature created the Production Incentive Program (also referred to as the Motion Picture Competitiveness Program) in 2006 to attract and retain film industry investment in Washington (Chapter 43.365. RCW). The legislature passed ESHB 1914 during the 2022 legislative session which allows the Production Incentive Program to allocate up to $3M annually to support Washington resident filmmakers through the Small Budget Production Initiative (SBPI.)

Washington Filmworks (WF) is the private non-profit organization that manages the Production Incentive Program as well as a variety of resources for the creative industries in Washington State. WF's mission is to create economic development opportunities by building and enhancing the competitiveness, profile and sustainability of Washington State's film industry.

What Is Available

The SBPI is designed to invest in emerging Washington State filmmakers by providing an early stage funding commitment for motion picture content and funding assistance for the project. Under the SBPI, most types of motion picture content is eligible for consideration which includes but is not limited to feature films, episodics, commercials, documentary projects, animation projects, and XR projects. The Board of Directors will review all completed applications quarterly. Of the applications received, the Board of Directors will fund no more than 5 short films with a running time of 40 minutes or less¹ annually.

A motion picture project with a budget between $20,000 - $1M, that has a minimum of 2 Washington residents in the positions of director, producer, screenwriter or lead actor, may qualify for an early phase funding commitment and funding assistance. The applicant of record for the motion picture must be a Washington resident producer or director. Intended to help facilitate additional fundraising for the project, SBPI dollars may be 'first money in' (i.e., the project does not need to be fully funded or have raised any money for the project at the time of application.) If approved, the funding assistance can be held in reserve for up to 6 months.

¹ According to the Academy Awards A short film is defined as an original motion picture that has a running time of 40 minutes or less, including all credits.

WF offers funding assistance (in the form of a cash payment) for qualified in-state expenditures of up to 30% for motion pictures. No funding assistance will be distributed until the approved production has completed principal photography and submitted the required completion package documents.

If approved for conditional funding assistance, once fully funded and before receiving the certified funding letter of intent, the production must verify that the project has not undergone significant changes since time of application.

Enhanced Incentives

If a production has the following spend thresholds of $500,000 for motion pictures, $300,000 per episode for episodics, and $150,000 for commercials, then the project may qualify for up to an additional 10% on qualified in-state expenditures if they film in a rural county and / or tell the story of a historically underrepresented community. See the sections titled Enhanced Incentives - Rural Communities and Enhanced Incentive - Telling the Story of Historically Underrepresented Communities for further detail.

Nonresident Labor

Some nonresident labor may qualify. See the section titled Nonresident Labor Eligibility Requirements for further detail.

For more details about SBPI refer to WF website (www.WashingtonFilmworks.org).
